

Manuscript

Students diplomas

TVP

Presenter: Students in Poland are worried about not getting any job after graduation. Will their education be good enough compared to the ones from the “old” member states of European Union? In this item, the Polish students get some answers

Participants:

Dariusz Baranik (stand-up)
(Reporter TVP 3 Szczecin)

Marta Banaszkiewicz
student of law at the University of Szczecin (7th semester)

Marek Żurek
Doctor at the European Integration Center of Jean Monnet, University of Szczecin

Translation

The students – diplomas

TVP

(by Dariusz Baranik)

(0:08)

Baranik:

“A few years ago the students could count on well paid job in their profession. Now it looks different. The students are thinking about some new polish saying: go and study, you’ll become educated unemployed. It is no wonder that it is very important for the students to join the European structures.”

(0:29)

The shortage of the job-offers has caused 1,5 thousand registred unemployed people in our region, who had graduated from the high schools. It is twice as much as two years ago. That’s because many of students who speak foreign languages very well are thinking about jobs in the European Union-countries.

(0:42)

Banaszkiewicz:

„Is it possible after we join the European Union my diploma will be respected in the EU-countries?”

(0:49)

The answer is – yes. But you have to draw your attention to education program in those countries. For example the students in France could have some differences in their program and it could not tie in with the program in Poland.

(0:58)

Żurek:

“For comparison the education system in the European countries we use a special program NARIK.”

(1:21)

After we join the European Union we will have to abide by at least two directives in the education system.

(1:26)

Żurek:

“According to the first of them (from 1989) we have to respect all high school-diplomas where the education lasts a minimum of three years. The second one (from 1993) regards mainly the education in the vocational training schools.”

(1:45)

The polish diplomas are respected now in Germany and in Austria. After the closure of the border it should change. Then the polish-educated people will have a chance to find a job in the foreign companies. Today most offers consists of work in restaurants, pubs and construction.